

Family Contact & Notification Sheet

In a hard week, someone has to tell people — and that job usually lands on whoever is standing closest, working from memory. Fill this page in now, while it’s easy: who should hear the news, and which person will call them. Fifteen minutes today, and no one ever has to reconstruct your address book to do it.

Type in the blue fields (open in the free Adobe Acrobat Reader so your entries save), or print and write. The last column is the one that matters most — a name in “who tells them” means nobody has to wonder whose call it is.
